

My Insanely Great Paper Prospectus

Leonardo da Vinci

January 15, 2005

For my Computer Graphics research paper, I would like to model an aristocratic woman who is painted in oil. She will be rendered in an anatomically accurate manner but using textures that simulate oil paintings. She will have an enigmatic smile that will fascinate people for centuries. Users can interact with the model by selecting different wardrobes and by setting different poses.